OBJECTIONS RAISED TO USE OF PIKE FOR AUTOMOBILE CONTESTS

Alleged That Mountain Road Was Appropriated Without Question for Races

FAYETTE COUNTIANS KICK

Asserted by One Newspaper That Illegality Was Committed at Recent Hill Climbing Events—Protests Made to State Department.

That all is not serene in the mountainous districts of Fayette county, where auto hill climbing contests are of almost regular occurrence, would seem from the following story from the Connellsville Courier:

With Uniontown automobile speed enthusiasts already discussing plans for the hill climb next year, public sentiment against the virtual confiscation of the National Pike, the most important highway in the county for private purposes is growing to such an extent that it is probable the State Highway Department will be forced to take belated action by withholding its implied sanction of the event.

The grabbing of a public highway the menace to life and limb of travelers, spectators and participants, and the treatment of those who go to the races have all combined to create a sentiment throughout the county that the hill climb should not be permitted in the future. This protest was made last year and promised to bring results. In the meantime a new state highway commissioner was named and nothing was done.

On the day of the race it is virtually impossible to travel the National Pike and those in charge of the show boldly tell persons having business in that vicinity during the week of the race that they travel the road at their own risk. They are told to take the back road, which is not in good condition. The farmers say it is hard enough to get back and forth over the National Pike without having to go over rough mountain trails to get to their destinations.

Particularly brazen is the manner in which the pike was roped off on the day of the race. A stand was erected in the middle of the road and a rope was stretched across. Every person approaching the race course was held up. The price asked was $3 for an automobile and 50 cents for an individual. Not satisfied with this, an effort, fairly successful was made to collect an additional charge for parking space along the course.

Scores of persons refused to be mulcted. This invariably resulted in an argument but if the kicker stood firm he was permitted to pass. The attendance was estimated at 25,000 by the Uniontown papers. The receipts, it is said, aggregated $2,500, which indicates there some spectators who refused to pay. The attendance was nearer 10,000, however, than 25,000 or an average of 25 cents a head.

That their automobiles were deliberately disabled because they refused to pay an extra fee for parking their cars along the course of the hill climb Thursday, is the charge made by at least two Connellsville automobile owners. There

SUFFRAGE NOT REVOLUTIONARY

So Declares Mrs. Unruh, Noted Suffrage Campaigner in Talk Here

ORGANIZATIONS PLANS LAID

Lucid arguments as to why women should be given the right to vote were presented by Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh of Oregon, and one of the best known suffrage workers in the land in a speech delivered from an automobile at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue Monday evening.

Mrs. Edwin Linton of Washington, president of the county organization, who is giving up her summer vacation to devote her entire time to the campaign in the county introduced Mrs. Unruh. A good-sized crowd was present. Mrs. Unruh spoke of conditions in her home state where she is a voter and remarked casually that affairs are such that the anti-suffragists can find nothing on which to base their arguments. She told how Colorado had been unjustly censored and how conditions there had been misrepresented. It was the women who re-elected Ben Lindsay, the wonderful leader of Colorado, she maintained in a battle against a corrupt combine.

Mrs. Unruh made it plain that the vote for women would not revolutionize either the country or the home, but that it would be an evolution toward better conditions.

Her audience listened attentively and at the close several questions were asked by various ones and answered by Mrs. Unruh. A number of women expressed their willingness to work earnestly for the cause in Charleroi, and a meeting was arranged to be held this morning at the home of Miss Clara G. Cooper to lay plans for better organization of the work.

STERN RULES TO GOVERN INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATION IN CHARLEROI TUESDAY

Use of High Explosives to be Prohibited---Safe and Sane Observance Urged by Burgess in His Formal Statement

Any individual who attempts to play William Tell by shooting blank cartridges at the luckless head of his neighbor on the fifth of July is very likely to shoot himself plump into a lot of trouble if not into jail. Next Monday will be celebrated as Independence Day, but the police will see that stern rules govern the celebration.

Generally speaking, the rules are that there must be no foolishness in noise making pastimes. It would not be wise for anyone to tamper with any sort of a gun that fires blank or any other sort of cartridges for the police might make a mistake and arrest somebody for carrying weapons. This, as might be surmised is a rather serious crime.

Then there are explosives that are frequently used for blowing tunnels through mountains and occasionally by desperadoes for blowing safes. It would hardly be safe to use these, for again a mistake might be made and a bank wrecked which would be rather bad for the town, or else somebody's health and happiness might be damaged by irreparable injury to their anatomy.

To be perfectly serious and to state the case plainly, the use of high explosives, of revolvers, rifles or other weapons in firing blanks or other cartridges will be absolutely prohibited on next Monday. The celebration is to be confined to one day, that day being Monday and the police emphatically state there must be no noise making on Sunday. Burgess Woodward is issuing a warning that celebrants may know and that they may be careful in their actions. His statemen follows:

"The use of any firecrackers over six inches in length and any fire crackers containing picric acid or picrates, dynamite or other high explosive compound will be prohibited. Likewise the use of blank cartridges in revolvers, rifles or weapon or cane of any sort will be prohibited. Noise making on a safe and sane scale will be permitted, but there must not be any infringement of the law. There must be no celebration on Sunday, the Fourth, and Monday only will be set aside for Independence Day observance.

BENEFICIAL WORK IS PLANNED FOR FARMERS

Bills to be Introduced For the Protection of Stockmen's Flocks From The Ravages of Dogs—Plan For Stock Judging Contest.

At a largely attended meeting of the executive committee of the Washington County Agricultural bureau held in the community building Monday at Washington, exhaustive reviews were given of the work accomplished during the past month. Suggestions were also made relative to the manner of procedure in the work to come.

County Agriculturist J. M. McKee said that he would devote the first two weeks of July to making visits to the various farms within his reach. The latter part of the month will be given over to cow testing by the Chartiers and Hickory cow testing association. At present there are only two such organizations in the county. However, it is expected that other similar organizations will soon be formed.

As an assistant in the work the county agriculturist will have W. L. Kellog of the dairy division of the United States agricultural department, spend two weeks here and tell of the great success of testing stations in the other sections of the country.

Plans will be offered for the annual stock judging contest for the boys of Washington county at the Washington county fair.

An endeavor will be made to relieve the county stockman from the depredations of dogs ravaging their sheep flocks by new bills introduced for the consideration of the law makers. The laws will be printed in pamphlet form and distributed all over the county in order that the people might know the laws and keep their dogs in confinement.

TIME LIMIT FOR GOODS ON SHELF

Dairy and Food Commissioner Foust Makes Important Statement

INSPECTIONS SHOW ABUSES

Grocers and merchants who handle breakfast foods are warned not to keep them on their shelves too long while waiting for the fashion in such commodities to turn, and above all to keep the bugs out of the packages, in a statement on the breakfast food situation in Pennsylvania, issued by Dairy and Food Comissioner James Foust. The statement, says the commisioner, is issued so that every man and woman may know what he intends to do. Inspections have turned up abuses, and as every dealer knows that cereals are especially liable to insect attack, there is no excuse for conditions which have been revealed by recent examinations.

"Keep the bugs out of the packages and keep out of trouble," remarks the commissioner. Examinations have shown packages alive with vermin and cob-webbed with the tissues of insect larvae. Merchants have to carry large lines of breakfast foods because of the activity of canvassers. This is done despite the fact that shelves are probably crowded with dozens of other brands. The demand is backed up by offers of discounts for quantity sales. And soon after the demand for the earlier goods stops but the packages remain on the shelves and are held there for months, or even for years, with the vain hope that the breakfast food fashions may turn and the old stock become saleable. Under this condition every bug has his day."

The commissioner says in his statement that the difficulties of the dealer are recognized, but that the rights of the consumer cannot and will not be overlooked. He says: "The commissioner wants every retailer handling cereal goods to understand that the retail stocks in every part of the state are to be thoroughly sampled and sent to State College for examination in a scientific manner."

United States Steel Corporation Starts Activity at Donora

ENGINEERS WORKING HAR

H. A. Barron, of Cleveland in General Charge of Preliminary Work—Wa Orders Creating Big Demand Fo Product.

Five hundred men have been place at work excavating and placing th ground in shape for the constructio of the new $3,000,000 spelter plan to be erected by the United State Steel corporation at Donora. Th er tire plant will consist of a number o ouildings and will be numbered amon the largest business industries in th valley.

Spelter is used in great quantitie in the manufacture of steel product and heretofore the steel manufactu ers of the Pittsburg district have bee dependent upon outside concerns fo their supply of this material. Spelte is also used exhaustively in the Euro pean war. This great demand of th war has placed the material at very high figure and the steel men o Pittsburg decided that the construc tion of a plant somewhere in the va ley would insure them the product a a minimum of cost and without an delay in shipping.

The first building to be erected h been located at a point one hundre yards north of the Donora-Webste bridge. A corps of engineers is no hard at work with their plans. A engineering work is under the direc supervision of H. A. Barron of Cleve land, Ohio, general superintendent o the Pittsburg and Cleveland branche of the steel corporation. During th construction of the plant it is likel that Barron will spend the large portion of his time in Donora.

After the construction of th plant a large number of men will b steadily employed in the production o spelter and this will add materiall to the prosperity of the valley. A the new factory spelter will be man ufactured not exclusively for use i the steel factories of the Unite States steel corporation but will b sold to other factories using the pro duct.

JUST STEALING LIVERY.

The postal saving banks of the United States is beyond question the most attractive feature of the Wash-gton administration. Democracy's tariff policy has disgusted everybody. t has failed completely, and its own rerents seem ashamed of it.

But the postal savings banks have een eminently successful. There anks are being pointed to with rare ride by Democrats everywhere and general effort is making to force the elief that the postal banks were reated by Democratic authority.

The facts are the postal banks ere established by the Republicans. n both branches of Congress Demo-rats viciously fought against their tablishment and protested that nancial confusion, if not ruin, ould follow the enactment of the leg-lation creating them. These banks ere provided for in legislation hich was approved by President aft on June 25, 1910, or long before emocracy came into power and very vote cast against the legisla-on was cast by the Democrats.

The fact is that the Democrats have o policy worthy of great applause d the party is going to pieces rough its own confusion.

ELIMINATING WASTE.

Today educators are finding that it possible to eliminate waste, even in e matter of education—and why ot? Every adult knows that he ent much useless time in figuring t something during his school days hich never did him any good, all a aste of time, says the Washington bserver.

If the exercise had been of use in rely mental development, even if no practical service in after life, still would have served a purpose. t to instruct a child in something hich he never can use and which is no benefit in developing his men-l powers is worse than useless. It a waste of time, a waste of energy d efficiency.

Out in a county of Indiana eight blic school principals recommended e elimination of the study of cube ot, the greatest common denomina-r, troy weight and the like be-use such work is a waste of time hich might be taken up in some-ing worth while and offered the fol-wing substitutes:

Working out of problems in city nances, figuring estimates on city nprovements, compilation of budgets, d measuring of the city's area, etc.

The committee also recommended hat "stage" money, check books nd cash registers be used in the city chools. The report adds that by the limination of useless work and the ubstitutes of practical problems—he kind the students will meet in very-day life—greater efficiency can e obtained.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A schoolboy asigned to prepare an ssay on ducks submitted the follow-ng:

"The duck is a low, heavyset bird, xposed mostly of meat and feath-rs. He is mighty poor singer, hav-ng a coarse voice, caused by get-ing so many frogs in his neck. He lass the water and carries a toy bal-oon in his stomach to keep from sink-ng. The duck has only two legs and they are set so far back on his run-ing gears by nature that they come retty near missing his body.

"Some ducks when they get big have curls on their tails and are call-d drakes. Drakes don't have to set or hatch but just loaf and go swim-ming and eat everything in sight. If I was to be a duck I would rather be a drake."

A New York salesman tells of a stay made by him in a western ho-tel, where he observed an old-fash-ioned roller towel.

"Say," asked the Gothamite of a man in the washroom, "don't the owner of this hotel know that it's against the law of the state of Illi-nois to use roller towels now?"

"He knows it right enough," said the man addressed, "but that law wasn't passed when this towel was put up."

The average man knows that red means danger unless the red happens to be on a girl's cheeks.

A man gets pretty mad when he only gets one sock back from the laundry. But you ought to see a woman when she opens the laundry and discovers that the baby ribbon is missing from a corset cover.

There never was a man who would not admit that he was a crack ball player when he was a boy.

You have to educate people to make them like olives. But it is different with drinking.

The man who has enough executive ability to manage 10,000 men is the same fellow who has to roll over and play dead when his wife tells him to.

Every man knows what a pest the fellow is who is always talking about himself. That's why we all talk about ourselves every time we get a chance.

A whole lot of men who can't swear off drinking have no trouble swearing off buying the drinks.

A woman wouldn't pay $3 for a waist. But a waist at $2.98 is a bar-gain.

After daughter breaks into society she often wonders how such a coarse person as father ever managed to butt into her family.

It is a mighty good thing for a lot of the members of this year's state leg-islatures that the fool killer isn't at-tending to his business.

Some men are so afraid that they might get into the henpecked class that they would rather say, "Good morning, judge," than listen to friend wife's ad-vice.

If a woman has the first installment she will buy anything on the install-ment plan whether she needs it or not.

When you are wrong you are always the last person to find it out.

Some men spend half their lives try-ing to get a woman and the other half trying to get away from her.

T. H. W. FERGUS ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Assistant Prosecutor is Well Fitted For the Position of State's Attor-ney.

T. H. W. Fergus has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomina-tion for district attorney of Wash-ington county. He has been a mem-ber of the Washington county bar since 1904 and is at present assist-ant district attorney of the county. Mr. Fergus is a member of an old Washington county family, his family having located in this county long before the Civil War. His father, Samuel P. Fergus, was a veteran of the Civil war, prominent farmer and oil producer and was county treas-urer of Washington county from 1885 to 1888. Mr. Fergus says:

"For more than ten years it has been my ambition to be district attor-ney of Washington county. With this in view I sought and was given an appointment as assistant district attorney under C. L. V. Acheson. I have always been a Republican and prior to my appointment as assist-ant district attorney was active in the Republican organization, having successively served as precinct chair-man and as assistant secretary, sec-retary and finally chairman of the Republican county committee.

"Some time prior to the expiration of my first term as assistant district attorney, it became apparent that cir-cumstances were such as to make it impossible for me to become a candi-date at that time. I deferred my am-bition and was re-appointed assistant district attorney to Richard G. Mil-ler. I have therefore served two terms as assistant district attorney and I feel that the experience thus gained fits me to fill the office of dis-trict attorney better than any one who has not had such experience. For these reasons and for the further reason that I have already spent so much of my time in the criminal courts at a comparatively small salary, I desire to serve one term as district attorney."

Successful As Assistant.

"My past record attests the fact that I have been faithful to my ap-pointments and that I have sufficient ability to successfully conduct the affairs of the office. I promise that if I am nominated and elected, I will de-vote my time to the affairs of the office, treat with courtesy every one having business dealings with the office, show partiality to none and in every way in my power be faithful to the trust reposed in me.

"I have the highest regard for all who have announced an intention to become candidates for the Republi-can nomination and should I not be successful in securing the nomina-tion I will support the successful can-didate with whatever power and in-fluence I may possess."

It's a rich, sweet, healthy smoke or chew; and the printer is glad of a chance to use printer's ink to tell the rest of the world how good it is.

FIVE BROTHERS

Pipe Smoking Tobacco

is a prime favorite with printers and all live, hustling he-boys who know and like a smoke or a chew of real man's tobacco.

And FIVE BROTHERS is always the same—always satisfying. We don't let FIVE BROTHERS go out of the factory until the tobacco has been aged from three to five years, so that all the rich, mellow sweetness of its Southern Kentucky leaf is at its best.

When you're tobacco hungry, you want clean, honest, juicy tobacco with some backbone to it. You never see a FIVE BROTHERS user switch to some other brand. He knows nothing can compare with FIVE BROTHERS for downright satisfaction.

A week's trial of FIVE BROTHERS will prove this to you—will make you a permanent user of FIVE BROTHERS.

OBJECTIONS RAISED

are others who made similar complaints of the treatment accorded them when they refused to pay more than a reasonable sum to park their machines along the public highway.

William Dull's big Packard car was rendered absolutely lifeless by someone who cut the wires of the distributor and it was necessary to hire another autoist to tow the machine to Uniontown for repairs. Fred Opperman's touring car was disabled in exactly the same manner and he also had to be towed in. Automobilists say that the miscreant who did it knew what to do to most effectively disable a car.

Both drivers had paid the $5 assessment at the foot of the hill, with the understanding that this was to give them the privilege of parking their cars anywhere along the line. When they drove to Turkey's Nest they were met with a demand for an extra $2.50 for parking space. They refused to pay it.

John Curry was threatened with arrest by the man in charge of the parking ground at Turkey's Nest when he refused to pay the extra charge. He told the man to go as far as he liked and that was all there was to it.

Sergeant's Explanation

This story comes from one of the British training camps. Captain ——, who only a few days before had been transferred to the command of H company from another battalion, and consequently had not time to become acquainted with its idiosyncracies, was inspecting his men for church parade on the first Sunday of his new command Noticing at once that the company was far from being up to strength, he asked the color sergeant why there was such a small muster. "Well, sir," explained the sergeant, "we've sixteen Roman Catholics, twelve Wesleyans, six Primitive Methodists, two Jews and four peelin' potaters!" That sergeant should be able to face the hottest fire without flinching. One or two men in the ranks giggled, but the sergeant was as solid as a rock.

"I am carrying out the sentence with determination" writes Shaw in a letter received at Asbury Park "If I had that delicatessen dealer in front of me now, I would give him something worse than a black eye." Shaw is with the Canadian Light Horse.—New York World.

Dr. Osler on Tuberculosis

Sir William Osler, one of the foremost of living medical men, formerly of Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, and now Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford, says in his "Practice of Medicine" (1892), on page 249:

"The healing of pulmonary tuberculosis is shown clinically by the recovery of patients in whose sputa elastic tissue and bacilli have been found. * * * In the granulations, products and associated pneumonia a scar tissue is formed, while the smaller caseous areas become impregnated with lime salts. To such conditions alone should the term healing be applied."

Many eminent medical authorities have testified to the efficacy of lime salts in the treatment of tuberculosis, and the success of Eckman's Alterative in this and allied throat and bronchial affections may be due partly to the fact that it contains a lime salt so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated Widespread use of this remedy in numerous cases of tuberculosis—many of which appear to have yielded completely to it—justifies our belief that it is worth a trial, unless some other treatment already in succeeding. It contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs. We make no promises concerning it any more that reputable physicians give promises with their prescriptions, but we know of many cases in which IT HAS HELPED.

Your druggist has it or can get it, or you can send direct.
